Campus and Center Locations and Information

 FCCJ campuses or centers are located throughout Duval and Nassau counties, offering courses during the day, evening and weekends. Every campus offers adult studies programs (adult high school, GED and adult basic education) as well as the courses required to earn an associate in arts degree for university transfer. But beyond that, each campus has its own specialties, nuances and attributes that make each a little different than the others. Students may choose to attend one or more campuses/centers of their choice, but keep in mind that the core courses for many associate in science and certificate programs are available only at specific locations. A general listing of program areas offered at the various campuses and centers is provided on the following pages.

University Transfer Program: Associate in Arts Degree

The Associate in Arts degree program is for those whose ultimate goal is to achieve a bachelor's or higher degree from a university. Also known as the university transfer degree, the A.A. curriculum is comparable to the freshman and sophomore years at a university. The majority of courses in this program are general education — such as English, math, humanities, science and social studies. The remaining courses are selected based on the student's intended major and are meant to satisfy prerequisite requirements for that major. Following are some popular majors which A.A. students may choose. This list is not a complete list of possibilities. See a counselor or advisor for other areas of interest.

- Accounting
- Advertising
- Anthropology
- Architecture
- Art/Art Education
- Business Administration
- Chemistry
- Computer Science and Information Systems
- Criminal Justice
- Drama/Theatre Arts
- Economics
- Education
- Engineering

- Pharmacy
- Veterinary Medicine

Career Preparation: Associate in Science Degree or Technical Certificate

The Associate in Science degree programs are for those who desire a college-level general education as well as specific career preparation in a certain occupation. These programs are designed to prepare students for entry-level work immediately after completion. They are not intended for students who plan to pursue a bachelor's degree. The majority of courses in the A.S. programs are directly related to the student's career choice. The remaining courses are general education, such as English, math, humanities, and social or behavioral sciences.

The Technical Certificate programs are also designed to prepare students for entry-level work after completion. Unlike the A.S., these programs are usually one year in length and do not include general education courses except for those directly related to the student's career choice.

Career Preparation: Vocational Certificate Programs

The Vocational Certificate programs are for those who want to prepare for a skilled occupation quickly, without having to take college-credit courses. Program lengths vary from a few weeks or months to nearly two years, depending on how much training is required for the specific occupation.

Florida Community College at Jacksonville is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the associate degree.
